NetWolves names Telecom Brokerage, Inc. 2008 Master Agent of the Year!

Tampa, Fla. – January X, 2009 – NetWolves, a managed services provider delivering consolidated, secure network services from leading telecommunication companies, announced today that it has named Telecom Brokerage, Inc. (TBI) its 2008 Master Agent of the Year.

NetWolves Channel Partner Program, which has been recognized as one of the most flexible Channel Partner Programs in the country, has a unique approach to delivering and supporting solutions to Agents and Master Agents that is built on a managed services approach to delivering a single source solution. TBI has been a huge supporter of NetWolves' Program, and has been a Master Agent with NetWolves since 2006.

“We are very pleased to recognize TBI for their success in selling NetWolves managed services throughout this past year,” said Ryan Kelly, Vice President at NetWolves. “We have been working with many of TBI's sub-agents, delivering unique solutions that they may not be able to obtain elsewhere. It is only fitting that TBI is recognized with this award, and we look forward to building on our collective success in 2009,” continued Kelly.

“ TBI prides ourselves on delivering unparalleled service to our agents, and we are very happy to have won the 2008 Master Agent of the Year from NetWolves,” said Geoffrey Shepstone, President of TBI. “NetWolves innovative offering, coupled with their world class service, combines for a very attractive, agent-friendly solution. As a result, both our agents and our award-winning support team enjoy working with NetWolves,” continued Shepstone.
